

Processing lines

The knowledge we have in the scope of design and production induced us to extend our area of activity by a new branch dealing with complex construction and equipment of production facilities. Our company supplies processing lines to many sectors, among others, the food sector, the chemical sector, the construction sector and the processing sector.

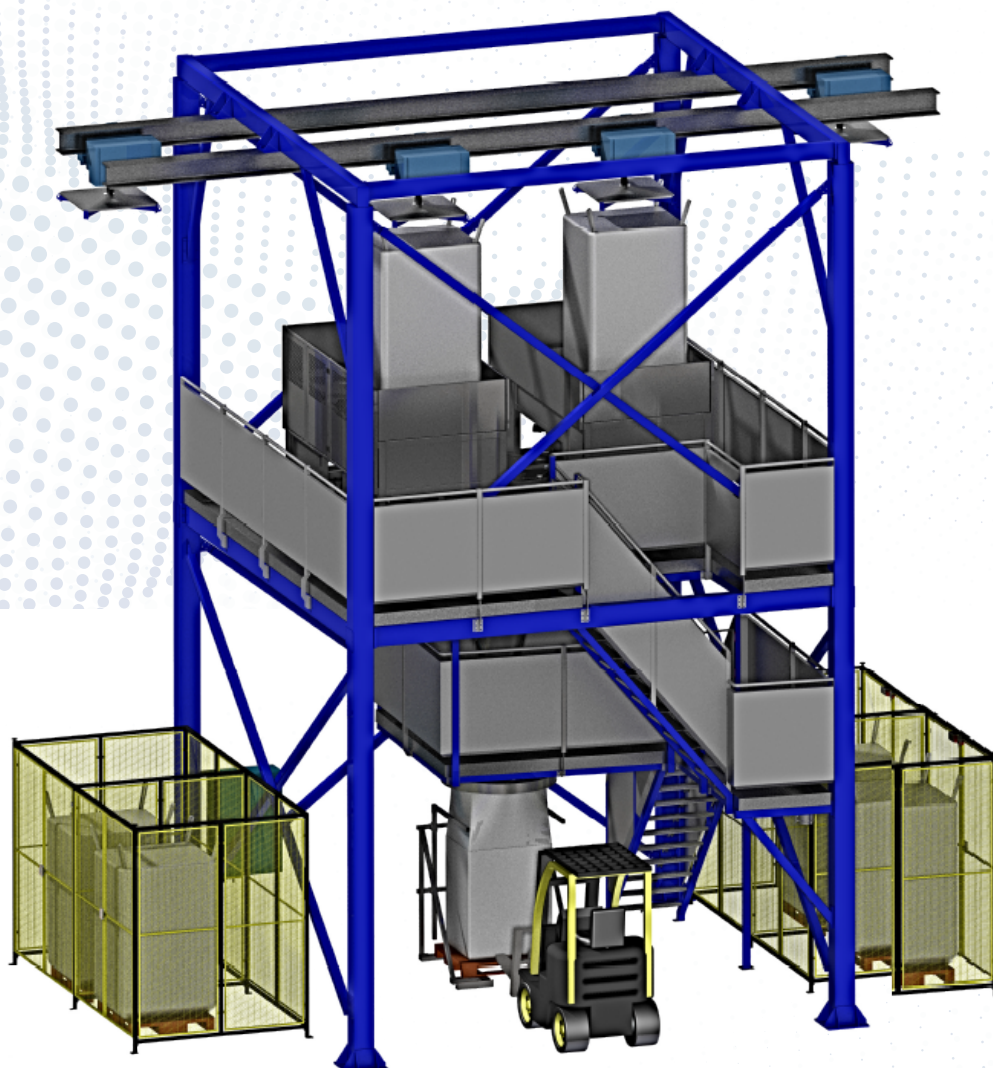

Moreover, our experience in the field of industrial automation makes it possible for us to combine all appliances into a single integrated system.

Our company employs almost 150 people, in addition we closely cooperate with assembly and production companies, which significantly increases our output and allows us to undertake still greater challenges.
